Assets of all classes are managed as a common portfolio. Class A and class B investment certificates have the same class currency – EUR. Both classes have the same fees to the Company, the Custodian and third persons.

The Registry holder for class A investment certificates is the Latvian Central Depository, the Registry holder for class B investment certificates is the Company.

Investment certificates that were issued prior to creation of different classes are hereafter regarded as class A investment certificates and retain all rights vested in them prior to creation of class division within the Fund.

Minimum investment in class A investment certificates is 1 investment certificate, in class B investment certificates – 50 000 EUR.

Investor Profile

The Fund was set up for professional and experienced investors as well as for those investors that are not familiar with capital market opportunities but whose purpose is to profit in the capital markets and who want to participate in the development of the economy of Ukraine. Such strategy comprises risk of issuer's default, political risk, economic risk and currency risk that can adversely affect the value of the Fund's shares or investment certificates. The long-term strategy of the Fund recommends a 5-year investment horizon.

Investment-Related Risks

The operations of the Investment Fund involve risks that arise from various factors. Each type of risk can adversely affect the operational results of the Fund and, thus, each of the Fund's shares. The following risks must be distinguished in this respect:

Basic risk – Investors should be aware that the price of securities as well as income from securities is subject to fluctuations that directly affect the value of investment certificates owned by the Investor.

Liquidity risk – refers to the ability at any point in time to dispose of (sell or liquidate) any of the Fund's assets. If financial instruments or other assets can be sold or liquidated so that the average bid (in comparison to transaction volume in the particular market) does not create significant movements in price, this market can be regarded as liquid.

Investments in the Ukrainian markets are subject to increased risk that markets for various assets are illiquid in the short-term. Consequently, a situation may occur that financial instruments or other assets cannot be sold or must be sold for a reduced value.

Issuer's default risk – related to the securities issuer's inability to fulfil its obligations against the securities holder. While planning the Fund's investment policy the Company takes into account investment safety of each particular country, security and bank term deposit, i.e., analyses credit ratings of each country, bank or enterprise. Occurrence of this risk can create partial or full default on liabilities with respect to a particular financial instrument and affect the Fund's net asset value and, thus, the value of each share of the Fund.

Legal or regulatory risk – risk of possible changes in national and foreign laws and regulations (including tax policy) resulting in additional expenses to the Fund.

Information risk – inaccessibility or lack of securities market information on issuer’s true condition.

As there may not always be a common standard for disclosure in Ukraine, there is an increased risk that despite prudent management the Fund Manager may receive insufficient information that results in adverse investment decision.

Financial risk – financial risk of investment funds is primarily related to situations when, due to external factors beyond the Company’s control, Investors simultaneously request redemption of their investment certificates which results in decreased efficiency of the Fund’s operations.

Fund management quality risk – losses or unrealised profits that may arise as a result of the Fund manager's action or failure to act.

Investors’ registry holding risk – risk of loss of data or information during data entry, storage and processing due to arbitrary or negligent deviation from the normative requirements by employees of the Registry holder, due to errors in communication equipment or computer systems, etc.

Derivatives risk – Investors should be aware that investments in derivatives are subject to high risk. Liabilities or claims from such transactions may decrease or cease to exist. The risk of loss in certain situations may not be estimated and may exceed the value of collateral. If loans are used to cover liabilities arising from derivatives or if liabilities or claims from such transactions are denominated in foreign currency, the risk of loss may increase.

Derivatives transactions may result in insolvency and encumber the Fund’s properties, without the possibility to estimate losses in advance.

Main Foreign Investment Risks:

- Political risk – risk that investment countries get involved in military conflicts and warfare, as well as risk of major changes in political environment of investment countries, for example, military coup d’etat, overturns. Such factors usually have a major impact on financial markets of the respective country and, thus, on the Fund’s performance.
- Economic risk – risk of changes in economic situation of investment regions, such as economic recession, excessive inflation, banking crisis, etc.;
- Accounting risk and risk of double tax collection – use of different accounting principles for securities accounting and registration systems in different countries may cause additional burdens on investments, such as higher tax rates being set for non-resident investments abroad; thus, the Fund’s property may be burdened more than if investments were made on the local market;
- Currency risk – this risk pertains to possible losses, which the holder of the fund’s investment certificates may incur due to adverse currency fluctuations. The base currency of the Fund is EUR, but the Fund's assets can be placed also in financial instruments denominated in other currencies, consequently, there is a risk of change in the value of foreign currency relative to the Fund's base currency.

There are particular risks related to investments in Ukraine.

In Ukrainian market there is particularly broad set of risks related to securities settlement and custody. These risks arise from the fact that securities are not in physical form, therefore, the only certification of the title to securities is a record in the issuer’s register of Shareholders. Industry best practices are still under development.

Asset prices in markets and stock exchanges are rather volatile. Moreover, investment performance may be affected by fluctuations of local currencies against the Fund’s base currency. Even with accurate securities market information which reflects the issuer's true condition investments are subject to a certain credit risk. Political changes, currency exchange restrictions, stock exchange regulations, taxes, restrictions of foreign investor activities, income repatriation, asset placement etc. can influence the Fund's investment performance.

Derivatives

To provide protection against the risk of fluctuations in market value of the Fund’s assets that may arise due to changes in asset prices or exchange rates, the Fund Manager has the right to invest in derivatives on the Fund’s account. Furthermore, the Fund Manager has the right to enter in derivatives transactions on the Fund’s account with the purpose to profit.

The Fund Manager can enter into repurchase (“repo”) agreements on the Fund’s account.
